I wrote to R08_EOC-IT-Support about that yesterday too. Looks like they've fixed it, though with errors:

1. It's not a Region 8 Website
2. Website is not capitalized in EPA style!

It's regarding the broken link here that I told them about three times yesterday, and it's still not fixed:

http://www.epaosc.org/site/site_profile.aspx?site_id=11082

Now they need to just point to epa.gov/goldkingmine. Much easier—if I can get ANYONE to do it!

LOL!

What's up with OEI?

I read your message quickly and thought you said to delete the entire R8 website.

I thought, "Best idea I've read all day!!" ☺

I'm on the phone with OEI right now...

Then in the interest of good housekeeping you should delete the old R8 page.

I already did that, as well. Both counts. It goes to the new page. Good boy, indeed! ☺

AND...The old, horrible R8 page is FINALLY redirecting to the new site. Yay!

It should be on our About R8 page as well. Oh, I see you added it. Good boy!

Are they gonna redirect our page when what's-her-name finally blesses the new page?

YAY!! My day is complete!! ☺

I asked Jeff Morin to put a link on the EPA HOME PAGE about the Gold King Mine spill. Why didn't we do this by now?!?

Just for you, Tim-man!

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'William Cooper', with a stylized flourish at the end.

My mistake, it was R6, and they did capitalize it. But they DON'T know EPA style! Jeez!

Funny. HQ didn't have it capitalized in their "Press" release.
